Royal Commission Set to Examine Independence Woe

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson ruled out British military intervention in Rhodesia today as the two governments announced a royal commission would examine the problem of independence for the British colony.

The announcements came before Wilson's scheduled departure for London after a week of talks with Prime Minister Ian Smith.

At a news conference, Wilson said a period of time was needed before the African majority rule could take over in Rhodesia. This could not be measured by calendar time, he said. His remarks were reported by the South African Press Association.

He added that he believed a democratic solution of the Rhodesian crisis was possible.

The white Rhodesians were under self-delusion, he said, if they thought they could escape the consequences of any illegal action, he said, referring to the threat of a unilateral independence declaration by Smith's white minority government.

"These consequences should not be underrated," Wilson said.

The announcement of a royal commission took much of the sting out of the dispute over Rhodesia's future. Wilson and Smith disagreed on the exact terms of reference of the commission, but it assured that talks between Britain and Rhodesia would keep going.

This would make a unilateral declaration of independence by Smith unlikely.

Smith's white minority government is demanding independence for Rhodesia on the basis of the 1961 constitution.

The British government has refused to give Rhodesia, an internally self-governing colony, full independence until guarantees are provided opening the way for political power to the country's 4 million Africans. There are 225,000 whites in Rhodesia.

$10,000 in Silver

Editorial Associate Held in Iola Breakin

WAUPACA — An associate was made on evidence gained editor of the Krause Publications through the crime laboratory tests on the coins.

The building which houses the Krause Publications, a publishing firm which prints publications for coin collectors, was entered by forcing a rear door Oct. 15. Two filing cabinets were taken from the crime laboratory in Madison.

Authorities identified the suspect as Jack W. Nannery, 39, an employee of the publications firm since April. He is a native of New York state.

The arrest followed a 10-day stake-out by authorities at a small railroad siding one-quarter mile outside of Iola where the major share of the loot, most of it in silver dollars and rare coins, was turned up by a farmer who was on his way to a nearby field to feed hogs.

Hidden Near Track
Authorities said Harry Finch, Iola, found the money near the railroad track hidden by railroad ties. He took the money to Iola Police Chief Lloyd Cooper who notified sheriff authorities. The money was then turned over to specialists at the crime laboratory in Madison.

Boys and bags which had contained the money were returned to the railway siding and authorities watched the site for 10 days, hoping the burglar would appear to claim the loot. Chief Cooper said no one appeared during the stake-out to claim the cash, and the arrest

59,184 More Federal Employees

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government employed 2,520,724 civilians in September, an increase of 59,184 over a year ago, a Senate-House committee reported today.

The total was 29,261 less than the August figure, a decline largely caused by seasonal factors, the committee said.

The monthly report by the Joint Committee on Reduction of Non-Essential Federal Expenditures said 1,471,400 were working for civilian agencies and 1,049,324 for military agencies.

Demonstrations Back U.S. Viet Nam Stand

More Than 50,000 Due In Fifth Avenue Parade

NEW YORK (AP) — A massive demonstration of support for American fighting men in Viet Nam is being marshaled today on New York's Fifth Avenue.

A turnout of 50,000 to 100,000 is estimated by leaders of the march, set to begin at noon. Five holders of the Medal of Honor, the nation's highest military decoration, are grand marshals for the demonstration, billed as an answer to the anti-Viet Nam protests two weeks ago.

The parade was new evidence of swelling support for U.S. policy in Viet Nam. Elsewhere, other signs of support appeared, particularly on the college campus.

U. S. Marines Fight Reds in 'Human Wave'

Teen-Agers Reported In Vicious, Close Viet Nam Battle

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. Marines, using pistols and fighting hand-to-hand from their tents, beat off a "human wave" assault by the Viet Cong in the early morning darkness today 10 miles southwest of Da Nang.

A U.S. military spokesman said 36 Viet Cong, many of them teen-agers, were killed. He described casualties among the 300 Marines as moderate.

One Marine squad, however, was badly mauled. Two of its 14 men were killed and the rest wounded, the spokesman said.

The Viet Cong also mortared the U.S. special forces camp at Plei Me in the central highlands and launched a flurry of new assaults in the Mekong Delta.

Had Drawings
A 13-year-old boy was among the Viet Cong dead at Da Nang. Marines said he had been selling soft drinks to Americans in the area and they found drawings of key U.S. installations on his body.

The assault, by an estimated 100 Viet Cong from a force of 400, was the second against Marines in the Da Nang area since Thursday, when a Viet Cong suicide squad infiltrated the Marble Mountain air facility and destroyed and damaged 33 helicopters. Da Nang is the site of the big American air base 380 miles northeast of Saigon.

The guerrillas broke through the Marine defense perimeter today and overran bunker positions. After an hour's battle, the Viet Cong broke and fled. Marines and Vietnamese fanned out in pursuit.

More Activity
In Saigon senior U.S. military sources gave another indication of increased Communist activity. They reported North Viet Nam has sent waves of fresh troops into the highlands north of the capital for what could be one of the showdown battles of the war.

The sources said 10 to 11 regiments are roaming the area now. Seven of them were described as North Vietnamese units accompanied by heavy weapons battalions.

The attack on the company of Marines near Da Nang however was made by both hardcore Viet Cong and teen-agers, the U.S. spokesman said. Marines said the youngsters had been recruited a few hours earlier at a village and forced to join in the attack.

Former Chief Of State Court Dies in Madison

Edward Fairchild, 93, Served on Bench 27 Years

MADISON (AP) — Retired Chief Justice Edward T. Fairchild, who served some 27 years on the Wisconsin Supreme Court, died at his home in Madison Friday. The distinguished jurist was 93.

He first was named to the high court in 1930, and became Chief Justice in 1954. Three years later he retired, and served subsequently as a consultant on various matters and with a Madison law firm.

He was the father of Justice Thomas E. Fairchild, who was elected to the Supreme Court in 1956, while the senior Fairchild was Chief Justice.

Prior to being appointed to the court by the late Gov. Walter J. Kohler Sr., Fairchild was an assistant district attorney in Milwaukee, served in the State Senate for three terms and was a circuit judge in Milwaukee from 1916 to 1930.

While serving as a senator he was active in framing legislation in the fields of workmen's compensation and vocational education.

Reports Unconfirmed

Marriage Rumor On Johnson Ranch

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — Eighteen-year-old Luci Johnson and her boyfriend, Pat Nugent of Waukegan, Ill., are spending the weekend at the LBJ Ranch amid unconfirmed reports they are here to seek President and Mrs. Johnson's permission to marry.

The reports were said to have come from a longtime family friend in Austin, Tex., but White House spokesmen here and in Washington would not verify them.

All that was confirmed was that vivacious, dark-haired Luci and tall, blond Pat flew to the ranch together Friday afternoon aboard an Air Force courier plane.

Not Unusual
That wasn't unusual, a White House spokesman said, since Luci frequently brings boy-friends to the ranch. The President, convalescing from his gall bladder-kidney stone surgery, was keeping to a relaxed, light schedule and had no weekend appointments.

If the family gathering was an indication of a forthcoming engagement announcement, no one at the ranch was giving out any hints.

Pat, about 23, has been dating Luci steadily since they met early this summer through mutual friends — one of them Beth Jenkins, daughter of former presidential assistant Walter Jenkins.

Went to Party
Nugent went to Luci's surprise graduation party at the White House June 1 and took her to his senior prom at Marquette University in Milwaukee three days later.

Since then, the dates have continued in Washington, where Nugent now works, in Wisconsin and his hometown in Illinois, always under the eye of Luci's constant Secret Service escort.

Pat's father, Gerard P. Nugent Sr., a Waukegan investment counselor, said Friday might he knew nothing of any engagement plans.

Young Nugent is a Roman Catholic and Luci, formerly an Episcopalian, converted to Catholicism on her 18th birthday last July 2.

After his graduation from Marquette in June, Nugent went to Washington, where he got a government job with the Advisory Board on Higher Education. A freshman at Georgetown University's School of Nursing, Luci has been working hard at her studies, reportedly doing well but cutting out any official White House duties to keep up with the tough curriculum.

Mayor's Support
The New York march has the backing of Mayor Robert F. Wagner and the City Council. It is cosponsored by City Councilman Matthew J. Troy Jr. and the New York Journal-American.

Among those scheduled to participate are veterans groups, labor and fraternal organizations, youth and student associations and a number of Hungarian "freedom fighters."

A "silent vigil" against the Viet Nam war will be held at the same time by several peace organizations in Times Square.

Hoover Hits 'Disobedience'

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said today civil disobedience will increase the nation's crime problem and lead to anarchy.

"Sowing contempt for law and order and promoting pride in law-breaking among the nation's youths can only result in an acceleration of a serious crime problem," the FBI chief said in an editorial message in the bureau's November law enforcement bulletin.

Hoover did not mention any groups or individuals by name. However, civil rights and pacifist groups and opponents of the United States' Viet Nam policy have used civil disobedience as a means of protest.

"I expect this problem we have to be resolved by morning," said Sen. Robert Knowles of New Richmond, the leader of the GOP majority.

McParland was especially harsh on his own party. "When I became a Democrat about 50 years ago there used to be a lot of good guys in it," he said. "Now the long-haired boys and the short-haired women are running the liberals."

He pleaded with his party's colleagues to "fight for liberty and not let these long-haired

KIMBERLY — Explosive runs of 42 and 57 yards and a picture pass play covering 27 yards carried the Kimberly High School Papermakers to a 19-6 win over Shawano here Friday night as the winners wound up their Mid-Eastern Conference season assured of at least a tie for third place.

The hosts completely dominated play in the first half, but were able to push across only one touchdown, that on an 80-yard march after receiving the opening kickoff. The Papermakers, aided by a 15-yard penalty on Shawano, marched for three straight first downs on the running of Bob Van Gompel, Mike Maas and Joe Malsavage and a pass from Jim Bogen-schutz to Malsavage.

The Indians forward was stiffened and appeared about to halt the Kimberly drive after a first down on the 32-yard stripe. Three running plays netted only five yards and with fourth down Bogen-schutz

Strong Bear Attack Perils Green Bay

CHICAGO (AP) — The punch-less Green Bay Packers tangle with the porous Chicago Bears Sunday in a National Football League game that could cascade with surprises.

Both Coach Vince Lombardi of the unbeaten Packers and George Halas of the red-hot Bears ran secret drills this week, obviously cooking up plans and plays designed to catch one another off-guard.

The Bears' biggest problem is the Packers' defense, the stingiest in the NFL at giving up points. The Packers' main worry is the Chicago offense built around the breakaway speed of Gale Sayers, the power of Andy Livingston and the passing of Rudy Bukich.

Tied for Lead

Sayers is tied for the NFL scoring lead with 34 points on nine touchdowns. Bukich has become the ranking passer in the league since winning the quarterback job away from Bill Wade in Green Bay Oct. 3.

The Packers, who won the Green Bay game 23-14 on the strength of a 20-0 halftime lead, could do little to stop Bukich and Livingston after they entered the game in the second half.

Green Bay must also regain its offensive touch, missing last Sunday when the Packers defeated Dallas 13-3 for their sixth straight win.

Statistically, the Bears, despite losses in their first three games, have an edge over the Packers on offense while the Packers have a decided advantage on defense.

The Bears have outscored the Packers 180 to 155 while racking up 96 first downs to Green Bay's 90, and 1,896 yards to the Packers' 1,613.

On defense, it is another story. The Packers have yielded only 73 points. The Bears have been touched for 158. Runners and passers have gained 2,130 yards against the Bears. Green Bay has allowed only 1,682.

A victory would put the Bears (3-3) back into contention in the Western Division race. They are now tied for third with three other teams.

A defeat would virtually eliminate Chicago from contention.

The Packers, who must still play two games with the Minnesota Vikings and one more with the Baltimore Colts, can ill afford to lose to Chicago. A defeat coupled with a Colt victory Sunday over San Francisco would leave the Packers in a first place tie.

Don Meredith Will Start; Hayes Back

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys, who have had quarterback troubles all season, will go with veteran Don Meredith against Pittsburgh in their National Football League game Sunday.

Coach Tom Landry made the announcement after practice Thursday night, saying Meredith "has been throwing real well this week."

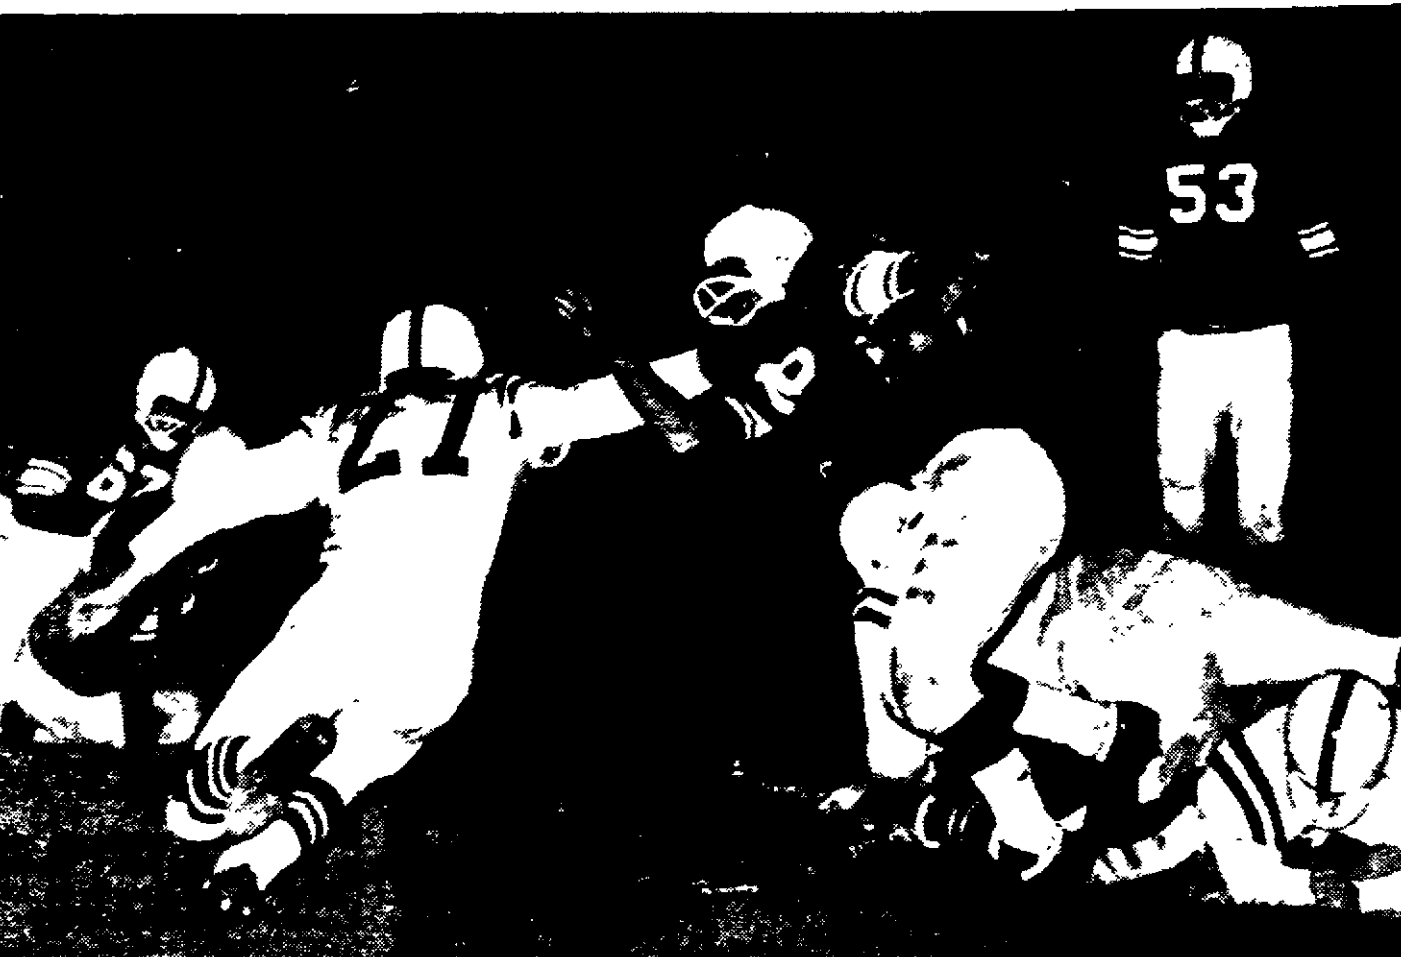

Meredith has shared duties with two rookies, Jerry Rhome and Craig Morton, after the crippled veteran showed a poor completion record in early games.

"All we need," said Landry, "is for Don to play the kind of game we know he can and this will be a winning team."

Helping Meredith's prospects at Pittsburgh will be the return of Bob Hayes, the Olympic sprint champion and a pass catcher. An injury kept him from playing last week.

Xavier High School's football team, after a slow start, capped the annual Homecoming celebration with a 33-0 triumph over Menasha St. Mary on Goodland Field Friday night, avenging the school's only loss as a member of the Fox Valley Catholic Conference.

The "Torches" Clark-coached Hawks concluded the season with an overall mark of 8-1, including the last eight in succession Conference-wise.

Xavier had wrapped up its fifth straight title last Saturday when Marquette Central knocked Oshkosh Lourdes out of contention.

After five years as a 4-year high school, the Clark-directed Hawks have amassed a sparkling 41-4 mark on the gridiron, including a 34-1 record in FVCC competition. The lone loss came last season, 7-0, to St. Mary.

The Zephyrs of Coach Clarence (Sonny) Lotzer finished the season with a 3-4 loop log, and 4-5 overall.

Balanced Offense

A well-balanced offense and rugged defense, spearheaded by Mike Van Lieshout, Mike Gregorius and Mark Feavel, triggered the Hawks to victory last night.

In all, 10 backs took turns lugging the platoon for the Hawks with Terry Graff, Colin Smith and Larry Van Dyke setting the pace. Graff gained 66 yards in 11 trips, while Smith broke loose for 65 yards in nine tries. Van Dyke managed 53 yards in six carries.

The Zephyrs controlled the ball throughout much of the first period with passing wizard Mike Heroux connecting on three of his first four aerials. St. Mary ran 17 offensive plays in the first 12 minutes, compared to a mere five for Xavier, yet the Hawks carried a 6-0 lead into the second stanza.

Rushed Hard

Heroux, rushed hard by the Xavier defense, managed to complete just one of his last 10 passes, however, and the Hawks took over from there.

After three plays netted the Zephyrs four yards Jim Jensen's punt from the St. Mary 36 was blocked by Mike Gregorius. Jack Herd picked up the loose ball on the 20-yard line and rambled to the five. Two plays later, with just three minutes of playing time elapsed, Xavier quarterback Paul Rechner, a senior southpaw, found Smith alone in the right flat for four yards and the touchdown.

The Zephyrs took the ensuing kick and staged their only drive of the night, marching from their own 21 to the Hawks' 29, before yielding possession on downs. The big play in the drive was a 23-yard romp by Mike Kettenhoien. Heroux hit on his three of four passes in the drive for another 20 yards.

Enter Xavier

Exit St. Mary and enter Xavier as the second period began.

Rechner then engineered the Hawks on a 14-play, 86-yard march midway through the second period. The payoff was an 18-yard pass from Rechner to Mike Hedeman for the six points and a 12-0 halftime advantage.

The Hawks took the second half kickoff and moved from their 28 to the Zephyr goal in just eight plays. With second and eight on the St. Mary 40, Rechner swept the left side on an option and after fighting to the 32, lateraled to Smith, who raced the final 32 yards untouched. Jack Herb's conver-

Gary Player's Record 264 Captures Title

South African Duplicates His 62 In Third Round

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP) — South African Gary Player won the Australian open title at Adelaide today by six strokes with a four round total of 264. Australian Frank Phillips and American Jack Nicklaus were second with 270s. Nicklaus shot a final round of 71.

Player's winning total easily smashed the Australian Open record of 271, which he set in 1956.

Nicklaus, the Columbus, Ohio, better who had taken a four-stroke lead over Player after two rounds, lost it back to him in the third round when the South African fired an 11-under-par 62 to equal his first round.

Nicklaus shot a 70 in the third round earlier today and entered the final round four strokes behind Player.

Australian Frank Phillips shot a final round 69 and also ended with a 270 total.

Peter Thomson of Australia was the first big name to finish. He carded a 67 and 65 today for a 271.

Ferree Leads Tournament

Shoots 67 at San Jose, Has 2-Stroke Edge

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — When Jim Ferree takes off his glasses and lines up a putt in the San Jose-Almaden golf tournament, he could be thinking "50."

He could because so far this year he ranks No. 51 on the pro golfers' money-winning list and the top half-hundred at the end of the campaign will be exempt from qualifying at PGA tournaments all through 1966.

The 5-foot 9-inch, 165-pounder playing out of Corona, Calif., fired a 67 Friday in the second round of the $46,000 tournament at San Jose to grab the lead at the midway point with an 11-under-par 133.

Putts Crosshanded

The North Carolina native, who putts cross handed and takes his spectators off when he reaches the greens, has won $14,432.92 so far this year and now goes after the $7,200 first prize which will be decided with rounds today and Sunday over the Almaden County Club layout.

That would virtually assure Eddie Machen last March in an hum of finishing in the top 50 and gaining the valuable exemption.

Hot on his heels at 135, two strokes back, comes a pair with similar thoughts.

Charles Coody of Fort Worth, Tex., shot a 69 Friday while South Africa's Bob Verwey made a 66. Strangely enough, Coody ranks 50th in money winnings, Verwey 52nd in money winnings.

Sayers' ranks second among Bear receivers with 17 catches for 205 yards and five touchdowns. Morris leads with 24 for 401 and four while Mike Ditka has 16 for 91 and one.

Heavy Scoring

Despite his big output last year Morris was able to catch only two for 24 yards in Wrigley Field last December — thanks to a strong job by Herb Adderley, who intercepted two passes aimed at Morris.

One of the oddities of the Bears' scoring is the few field goals attempted. Roger Leclerc, many, the Chicago kicking specialists, has attempted only seven field goals. He made four and has booted 24 of 24 extra point tries for 36 points. Those 24 PATS reflect the Bears' heavy scoring.

The Packers' Don Chandler has attempted 18 extra points and one was blocked. He has tied 12 field goals and hit on 10, giving him a total of 47 points.

The Bears have scored 180 points, the Packers 155. There's a bigger difference in the opposite direction. Defensively, the Packers have allowed only 74 points (best in the league) while the Bears have given up 158 — more than twice as

Winnebago Would Pay For Relocating State 26

Aviation Committee Will Ask County Board Okay for Closing

OSHKOSH—Winnebago County would have to pay the expense of the right-of-way needed for the relocation of State 26 to allow expansion of the Winnebago County airport, L. W. Empey, Green Bay district highway engineer, advised the highway and aviation committees of the Winnebago County Board Friday afternoon.

The aviation committee will present a resolution to the county board next week asking that State 26 be closed and that a hearing be held by the State Highway Commission on this request.

Empey said State 26 could be re-routed into Oshkosh over U.S. 41 and State 44 or closed at its present intersection with U.S. 41.

He urged that the county obtain a "corridor" for a future southern entry into the City of Oshkosh. This would be the eventual routing of State 26.

Empey did not feel this new road would have to be built for 10 years, depending on the development of the area south of Oshkosh, but that the land should be secured now.

Securing this land is the responsibility of the county, he pointed out.

The district highway engineer said present State 26 was in need of reconstruction and a strengthening of the overpass over the Soo Line Railroad if it were to be continued in use. He estimated the cost of this work at $406,000.

A new highway built at this time would cost about $713,000, or $300,000 more, he indicated. State 26 traffic being added to this cost would include the land it.

Empey suggested the future cost for improving present State routing of State 26 should be 26 if continued in use were south of Ripple Road and that based on 1963 estimates.

Empey estimated the distance of the "corridor" the county head northeast on the present should secure to be about 1 1/2 State 26 for and then would be miles long and 130 feet wide, relocated directly east to County Trunk I which is the Oregon south of Oshkosh should be a 44-Street Road. It would follow foot urban construction. Since Oregon Street Road into Oshkosh, the city has not annexed on both sides of Oregon Street to Waukau Avenue, the county still has jurisdiction over this part and up to 24th Avenue.

Supv. Clarence Loehning, Neenah, objected, to a joint resolution being submitted by the aviation and highway committees asking for the State 26 relocation. He said the request should be that of the aviation committee. Board Chairman Joseph Drexler, Oshkosh, indicated he was trying to save a step and indicated that the resolution when presented by the aviation committee then would have to be referred to the highway committee for enforcement of an additional resolution.

Supv. Alvin Staffeld, Neenah, aviation committee chairman, thought the joint resolution was "rushing things" and that it should be the resolution of either one committee or the other.

Supv. Lyle Raddatz, Town of Nekimi, added that the aviation committee should present the first resolution asking the State Highway Commission to conduct a hearing on closing State 26.

Planning Director Says Twin Cities Should Continue Their Growth

Johnson Contends Menasha Plan For Annexation 'Went Too Far'

OSHKOSH—The state director of planning, who in early September found against the City of Menasha in its recent annexation, said Friday he feels that both Neenah and Menasha have grown too slowly and hopes they both will make more annexations.

The director, Walter Johnson, gave some of the background for his Sept. 9 advisory opinion during an informal interview at the regional water conference here. He cast his opinion against the annexation, he said, because "it went too far." He maintained the annexation extends into areas which are more related to Appleton.

Caught In Middle

"We knew we'd be caught in the middle on this case; it's just one of those things," he said, referring to the high level of controversy over the annexation.

A major consideration in the ruling of the department of planning, he said, was how utility services would be affected. He maintained that Appleton can service northern parts of the annexation package better than Menasha.

Specifying on this general point, which also was made in his September ruling, he said Appleton already extends water and sewer service to the Fox Valley University of Wisconsin Center, an area included in the annexation.

Grow Faster

But, beyond the specific issue of the recent annexation by Neenah and Menasha "haven't grown fast enough."

Johnson also commented on how state courts are interpreting state annexation statutes. He said they "have gotten off on the wrong foot" in applying a "test of reason."

He said a more viable court criteria would be whether an annexation was an "abuse of discretion." The latter standard would be less subject to ambiguous interpretation, he said.

Menasha Corp. Names New Personnel Head

MENASHA — Richard D. Widmann, Neenah, has been named to the newly created position of corporate personnel manager for Menasha Corp. He has been with the company since August.

Widmann was formerly salary administrator for the Marathon Division of American Can Co. and served as manager of compensation for American Can Co. in New York City. Prior to his appointment with the Menasha Corp., he was a consultant and partner in Personnel Management Associates, Inc.

As corporate personnel manager, Widmann's duties will include personnel recruitment and training, development of employee benefits, compensation, organization, communications, safety and related activities. He also will oversee personnel systems and procedures. Widmann will have responsibility for providing staff personnel services to all divisions of the corporation.

A native of the state of Indiana, Widmann received his bachelor of arts and master of arts degrees from Indiana University. Mr. and Mrs. Widmann and their three children have resided in Neenah for 13 years.

Neenah UW Student Chairman of Campus Integration Program

MADISON—Paul Mennes, a senior at the University of Wisconsin from Neenah, has been named chairman of a program on the campus Nov. 23 at which Dr. Martin Luther King, winner of the 1964 Nobel Peace Prize and noted integration leader, will speak.

King's topic will be "The Future of Integration." The program will be held in the university stock pavilion, largest meeting hall on the campus.

Sen. Nelson Addresses Water Conference

Asks Federal Funds to Curb Pollution

OSHKOSH—In a speech stronger than his usually outspoken conservation speeches, Sen. Gaylord Nelson called here Friday for a massive federal expenditure to limit water pollution.

For the first half of the address to the regional water conference of the Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission, the Democratic senator described the dimension of the problem. "We're going to have two cars in every garage, everyone with a college education, but what good is it if we're living in the mud of our own sewage?" he asked.

He said state and local governments have lost the battle to preserve our resources. "The argument that state and local levels can do it better really means they won't do it at all," he said. All we have to do is look around us, he added.

Lists Atrocities

Among the conservation atrocities he ticked off were:

"The southern tip of Lake Michigan is gone," caused by pollution from steel filings, acids, and raw sewage. "It is virtually beyond restoration," he added.

The beaches in Green Bay have been closed for 25 years because of pollution.

Milwaukee has combined storm and sanitary sewers, which means that raw sewage overflows into the lake every time it rains heavily. This also is the situation in St. Louis and many other American cities, he said.

There is a 2,500 square mile area in the middle of Lake Erie that is no more than a "dead sea," he said.

In Duluth, he said, the tide of pollution is extending out from the city, driving all but trash fish before it.

Water Usage

Beyond the rim of present pollution, the need for a massive program also arises from the population pressure, he said. As an example he said we are now using 350 billion gallons of water a day in the United States; by 1980 it will be 600 to 700 billion gallons and 1,200 billion by the year 2000.

This means our surface water will be reused several times a day in many areas of the country and up to 30, 40, or 50 times a day in heavily populated areas.

"What we must realize," he said, "is that the pace of the pollution and population are accelerating rapidly."

To stop the destruction of these resources, he said, many steps must be taken and much money must be committed. He called his bill passed this year to provide $150 million for establishing water control standards only a modest beginning.

As a starter, he said, we must spend $50 to $100 billion—up to several times more than the national yearly defense budget—to encourage industries and municipalities to clean up by incentives and tax writeoffs.

Spending money, he said, is an economic measure since it will bring back returns several hundred-fold.

Police Hold Two Runaways

Two youths were taken into custody near an abandoned automobile in Brown County Friday night following a high-speed chase from Kaukauna by Kaukauna police.

Brown County authorities said the two youths were Michigan runaways who allegedly stole a car in Oconto and drove to Kaukauna, where they were seen by police who had been alerted to the stolen car.

Aldermen Informed

House Numbers Turn Up in 'Craziest Places'

House numbers in Appleton's residential areas turn up in the craziest places, a group of aldermen learned Thursday night.

As a result, the council's public safety committee asked the police department to investigate the situation and make recommendations.

The need for better house numbering, and improved street sign system, was called to the committee's attention in a three-page petition sent to city hall recently by a group of Appleton residents.

Dean Starks, 1500 1/2 Prospect Ave., who said he was in the delivery business, told the committee of the problems encountered due to the lack of uniform house numbering in the city.

have had trouble locating houses at night because of the lack of a number.

Grievances Cited

The committee was informed that:

— Many houses in Appleton lack numbers.

— Many have numbers but because of their location they cannot be spotted at night.

— Residents who have their homes painted usually have the house numbers painted over.

— In some neighborhoods, residents have house numbers attached to trees in the front yard.

— Other homeowners have the house numbers painted on curbs, steps, fences, flower pots and "all over the place."

The committee didn't think it could do much about telling people where to put house numbers but would check into improving street signs.

Man Charged With Battery Faces Court

Police Allege Leonard Eichhorst Stabbed Woman

Leonard E. Eichhorst, 30, 725 Koefnke Road, charged with aggravated battery in connection with the alleged stabbing of a young Appleton woman, was bound over for the reading of information after a preliminary hearing late Friday afternoon in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

County Judge Gustave J. Keller who found, after the testimony, that there was probably cause that a crime had been committed, set Monday morning as the date for reading of the information.

Heard Friday in Judge Keller's court were Phyllis Pranke, 23, 730 1/2 W. College Ave., who alleges that Eichhorst stabbed her with a paring knife at his home Sunday morning, Oct. 3, and Dr. Joseph N. Bonner, who treated her at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Eichhorst, who appeared with his court-appointed attorney Seymour Gmeiner, was arrested by Outagamie County authorities following investigation of an incident at his home.

Dr. Bonner told the court Miss Pranke received a wound in the lower right part of the back and that the liver was penetrated. She was hospitalized for two weeks and two days.

Bond for Eichhorst was continued at $2,000.

2 Vice Presidents, Secretary Chosen By AAL Directors

Herbert Voecks to Retire After 26 Years on Association Board

Two new vice presidents and a new secretary were named Friday by Aid Association for Lutherans board of directors. Appointments announced by President Walter L. Rudland, an incorporator and the first national secretary of Aid Association for Lutherans.

Gerald C. Herzfeldt, 1331 Greenzoo Road, vice president and director of fraternal affairs.

Wilmer C. Stach, 1101 E. Glendale Ave., vice president and director of planning and systems.

John D. Steudel, 331 E. Greenfield St., secretary. He succeeds Herbert Voecks, 1735 S. Outagamie St., vice president and secretary who retires Oct. 31.

Herzfeldt and Stach will continue to serve as heads of the fraternal affairs and the planning and systems divisions, respectively.

As secretary, Steudel will continue to have supervision over claims services, beneficiary services and the certificate loans and surrender services.

Voecks became national AAL secretary on Jan. 1, 1953, after serving on the board of directors since 1949 and as trustee from 1941 to 1952. Before 1953, he was associated with the First National Bank of Appleton.

Voecks will continue to serve as a member of the advisory council to the board of directors and as chairman of AAL's building committee. The retiring vice president and secretary is a son of the late Albert Voecks, an incorporator and the first national secretary of Aid Association for Lutherans.

Educated in Appleton and Northwestern College, Watertown, Wis., Voecks is a graduate of the American Institute of Banking, has served as vice president and president of St. Paul Lutheran Church and has been active in the work of the North Wisconsin District of the Wisconsin Synod.

Claims and Services

Stendel has been assistant vice president and director of claims services since 1960. He joined AAL in 1937 and has served as manager of claims, assistant secretary, and assistant vice president and director of claims services. A past president of the Wisconsin Insurance Club, he has served as treasurer of St. Paul Lutheran Church, and on the board of regents and treasurer of Fox Valley Lutheran High School. He is on the pension board of the Wisconsin Synod.

Herzfeldt joined AAL in 1933. He was named stenographic unit manager in 1934, manager of certificate issue in 1942, manager of certificateholders' service in 1948 and director of fraternal affairs in 1961. He is a fellow of the Life Office Management Association and active in the Wisconsin Insurance Club and the National Fraternal Congress. He also has held several offices in Mount Olive Lutheran Church and the North Wisconsin District of the Wisconsin Synod.

Stach joined Aid Association for Lutherans in 1932 and has served as manager of surplus refunds, manager of premium accounts, assistant secretary, and director of planning, and director of planning and systems. He, too, has been active in the Wisconsin Insurance Club and in other insurance organizations, many Appleton community and civic organizations.

Committee Calls for Halt on $1.9 Million Expansion Plan Until After Vote by Taxpayers

NEENAH - MENASHA — A demand for a county-wide referendum on advisability of changes, further airport expenditures 3. Passage of sufficient time was made Friday in a sharply worded letter to Winnebago County Board supervisors. usage will continue or level off.

The Neenah - Menasha Chamber of Commerce airport committee set down seven objections to a current campaign by the airport committee to spend the $1.9 million for airport improvements and runway extensions. 5. Publication of a plan and cost estimate of relocating highways including State 25 with breakdown of costs to county, area voters to attend the county board airport hearing at 10 a.m. Tuesday and express opposition to continued port expenditures. "A program which calls for Martin Kuether of the Neenah - Menasha Taxpayers' Association which, according to best estimates, will cost several million dollars and will benefit relatively few citizens of the county should be presented to all citizens, and they should be given an opportunity to express their interests."

Kuether said the budget was next spring, all port projects will be "steam rolled" through by Oshkosh interests.

County board reorganization money, Kuether said, if not will give Oshkosh and its neighboring towns five additional county board votes while the Neenah - Menasha area will lose one vote.

"Don't be fooled," Kuether said, "that those backing the airport aren't aware of the income is but $41,000. Biggest situation and waiting to advance of it."

Points made in the letter were:

1. Appropriation of $40,000 in 1966 budget for engineering, architect and development fees, the county sell the port to the City of Oshkosh. Kuether claimed in and said yes, "sell amount of $160,000 now available for this purpose to the aviation committee be lapsed and returned to the general fund and be used to reduce the general tax levy."
2. That surplus funds from prior budgets in approximate amount of $160,000 now available for this purpose to the aviation committee be lapsed and returned to the general fund and be used to reduce the general tax levy.

Pressure to Spend

The taxpayer association member said supervisors are in the middle on port expenditures, they feel growing opposition but also are pressured to continue spending based on what they hear. He predicted Aviation Committee Chairman Al Stafford would not be chairman next year because of committee pressure to remove him. Stafford is being pushed through. Kuether said, but his vote always overruled. Stafford is getting tired of being forced to do what he doesn't want to do, Kuether said.

Important Issues

Divergent Fox Cities Opinions Confuse Wouldbe Trick or Treaters

Tricks and treats have made the Fox Cities a community divided.

Neenah and Menasha officials this week are standing firm for trick and treat night tonight.

But Appleton officials have been telling inquirers that the night set aside for door-to-door treat collections is Halloween night — Sunday night.

Mayor Clarence Mitchell said today that the civic celebrations for the young fry were held Friday and that trick and treat night is Sunday night.

Not so with Twin city officials who are officially giving sanction to the annual parade to the doors for tonight.

Sunday Celebration

Trick and treat night in Combined Locks, Kimberly, Little Chute and Kaukauna will apparently be officially celebrated Sunday, officials there indicated. There have been few inquiries in those communities about a change of dates.

Appleton police said they have been swamped with telephone callers who are asking when the trick and treat ceremony is official.

"We've had maybe 5,000 calls," a weary desk sergeant said at the Appleton Police Department. He admitted the figure was a slight exaggeration, but he said, "it seemed like it."

Capt. Donald Paulie of the Appleton Police Department said the force has been doubled for Sunday night and a normal force is scheduled to work tonight.

No Protection

"If the treaters are out there, they'll be there without all our protection," Capt. Paulie said.

In some communities, trick and treat night is celebrated on the night previous to Halloween.

Teen-Agers Request Booklet From Ann on Boys' Manners

BY ANN LANDERS
 DEAR ANN LANDERS: You've written some mighty good advice for teen-agers in the past and now I hope you will do one more thing. Please write a booklet on manners for teen-age boys.

This may sound like a silly request but honestly, Ann, boys need help with manners just as much as girls—maybe even more. My best friend and I decided to teach our boy friends a few of the every-day courtesies and it has made all the difference in the world. Now they open the car doors for us, help us with our coats and stand up when an adult comes into the room.

I am sure the reason some teen-age boys appear to be rude is because they just don't know any better. How about that booklet, Ann?—Love 'Em Anyway

Dear Love: I'll file your suggestion under "One of These Days." At the moment I'm swamped. Sugar, a low bow to you two girls for teaching your boy friends the A.B.C.'s of every-day manners.

I hope other girls who read this will follow your example. A girl who is interested enough in a boy to do this for him pays him a high compliment—and she does him an enormous favor.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My mother-in-law gave us a painting for our anniversary. I know good and well that piece of junk has been in her basement for six years. It's a monstrosity that looks like a vacuum sweeper having its tonsils removed. When I opened the carton our 4-year-old became frightened and began to cry. I don't want to hang the ugly thing in our home. My husband says his mother will be terribly hurt if we don't hang it and he does not want to risk offending her. I think it was a dirty trick to saddle us with a picture she didn't want to hang in her own home. It was also cheap of her.

jack. East returned a heart to dummy's king.

Declarer next led a diamond from dummy, and East played low in the hope that South would misguess a finesse. South tried a finesse with the jack, but this did the defenders no good at all.

West had to win with the queen of diamonds, and now his hand was dead. He made a switch to the jack of spades, but South was too shrewd to take a losing finesse. He put up the ace of spades and led another diamond from dummy.

End of Defense
 The defense had now come to an end. East could take the ace of diamonds and the king of spades if he cashed them at once. Then South had tricks to burn.

East's best chance to defeat the contract was to step up with the ace of diamonds when declarer first led that suit from the dummy. East would then return his last heart, setting up West's suit.

If South played for the diamonds he would let West in with the queen of diamonds and the rest of the hearts. If South fell back on the spade finesse instead of continuing with the diamonds, East would take the king of spades and return a spade, holding South to eight tricks.

to send us something she had sitting around. What is your opinion—Lover of Art, Not Garbage?

Dear Lover: Thank your mother-in-law for the gift and tell her you will hang it when you and your husband agree on a "suitable place."

If you cannot agree on a "suitable place" you will, of course, never hang it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please help me figure something out. I am mystified. My brother married later in life than most men. The woman is a widow about 33 years old and she is a delightful, gracious person. But, Ann, she gets absolutely stoned on one drink. Is this possible? Nobody can figure it out.

When she arrived at our home Sunday for dinner she was charming itself—lovely, bright-eyed and bubbling over with witty conversation.

Then she had a cocktail—just one—and within ten minutes she was drunk as a skunk. When dinner was announced she walked straight into the clothes closet.

A similar thing happened at my sister's house last week. We cannot figure out how a person can get so loaded on one cocktail. What do you make of it?—Inquiring Sisters

Dear Sisters: Often the person who gets plastered "all of a sudden" has had a head start somewhere else. However some people cannot tolerate even one drink without falling on their faces—and your brother's wife may well be one of these.

To solve some of the frustrations, disappointments and disillusionments of married life, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "What To Expect From Marriage," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. (Copyright, 1965)

Col. Powers To Speak at Green Bay

Fall Seminar of Engineers' Group Set Nov. 17-19

Post-Crescent News Service
 GREEN BAY — Col. John (Shorty) Powers, former voice of the astronauts, and Vice Adm. Levering Smith, the Navy's director of special projects, will highlight the three-day fall seminar of the Northeastern Wisconsin chapter of the American Institute of Industrial Engineers next month.

The seminar is set Nov. 17-19 at the Beaumont Motor Inn. The seminar will be opened by Wade W. Smith, Appleton, chapter president at 8:55 a.m. Thursday Nov. 17 and will be concluded at a noon buffet Friday.

Adm. Smith, speaking on the "Scientific Management in the Department of Defense," will address the Wednesday evening banquet. Powers will speak at the Thursday evening banquet.

Adm. Smith, as director of the Navy's special projects, is responsible for research, development and production of the Navy's fleet ballistic missile weapon systems, known as Polaris.

Col. Powers, now retired from the Air Force, is perhaps most noted for popularizing the phrase "A-OK" into the English language while assigned as capsule communicator in America's first series of manned space flights.

Other Speakers
 Other speakers listed for the seminar include: Ross W. Hammond, chief of the industrial development division at Georgia Tech; Leonard Wiltgen, marketing manager, IBM, Green Bay; Kenneth Plieman, Milwaukee CPA; David Lasser, director of economics and research for the AFL-CIO; Dr. Gerald Nadler, formulator of concepts and programs of "work design," which has been acclaimed the first satisfactory theory to unite in-

Village to Offer Dance Instruction

LITTLE CHUTE — Due to many requests, the village recreation department will sponsor dance classes with registration to be held from 7 to 9 tonight in the sewing room at the village hall.

Classes will get underway Nov. 5 and end May 7. A series of 24 classes will be held, all on Friday evenings. Miss Marcia Geurts will be instructor and teach tap, ballet, acrobatic and jazz dancing. A slight registration fee will be charged to help defray a portion of the cost.

Industrial activity with the democratic way of life; John P. Houston, chief industrial engineer with Keystone Steel and Wire Co., Peoria, Ill.; C. N. Russon, industrial engineer, Cummins Engine Co., Columbus, Ind.;

Dr. Robert F. Taylor, Arthur Little, Inc., Chicago, industrial researcher; The Rev. Gordon Gravenor, executive director, American Foundation of Religion and Psychiatry, Green Bay affiliate; Dr. Leroy Wickstrom, management expert, Honeywell, Inc.; and John Bosstater, Milwaukee CPA.

Those interested in attending the seminar should make reservations with the chapter by writing Post Office box 973, Green Bay.

liberals take everything away from us."

Knowles Help
 Before bipartisan supporters of the legislation bumped into of county and municipal governing boards. The other would have put the entire question of open housing to a public vote in September, 1966.

The victories were scored with the personal help of Republican Gov. Warren P. Knowles, who left his east wing office to plead with GOP members for passage of the bill.

Knowles applied his persuasion in the Republican caucus room, and the action brought a stern rebuke from Sen. Reuben LaFave, R-Oconto.

"Or Sheep?"
 LaFave accused the governor of "immoral lobbying." He told his GOP colleagues and went to let the governor dictate their vote. "Are you statesmen or sheep?" he asked.

The Oconto senator went on to charge that the Republican leadership's endorsement of the open housing bill was politically motivated. "They're doing this for a few busy votes they'll never get," he said.

The Beer Drinking Age

The bill approved this week by the state assembly on the subject of teen-age beer drinking is a compromise arrived at after lengthy discussion in the legislature and, as with any compromise, probably will satisfy few. But if finally enacted it could have a beneficial effect in a manner not contemplated by the legislature.

The measure approved by a surprising 87-0 vote provides that a teenager cannot drink beer until his 19th birthday—unless he has graduated from high school in which case the legal minimum age would be 18.

This provides a major step toward the curbing of the beer-drinking student—his example of drinking normal alcoholic beverages which should lead into a beer bar until 19.

The measure raises the question of what document a teen-ager will need for admittance to a beer bar—his beer card or his diploma.

There is another aspect of the bill which appears to be discriminatory. Youngsters living in counties with a minimum 21-year age limit would not be issued identification cards until they were 21. This would apply primarily to Milwaukee County, and would mean that teenagers there could not get cards to drink beer anywhere else in the state. The objective is to cut down on Milwaukee youths driving to beer bars in other counties.

This subject has been debated over many sessions in the legislature and this is a concrete action on such a bill. But the senate when it meets again in the spring may well decide that the assembly measure is far from a reasonable solution to the problem.

Boom in City, Area Planning

Wisconsin's program of local planning assistance under Section 701 of the 1954 Federal Housing Act is starting to pay broad dividends for communities from one end of the state to the other that had enough foresight to open the door when opportunity knocked.

It has been estimated that approximately 100 local planning programs—several for communities in this part of the state—have been approved by the Department of Resource Development and the Housing and Home Financing Agency in the past seven years.

This month, the 701 planning program, which has enabled local municipalities to obtain grants amounting to 75 per cent of the cost of projects is starting its eighth year in Wisconsin. The program has been one of the most successful implemented by federal, state and local agencies.

A report by the Department of Resource Development focuses attention on several planning projects affecting communities in the Fox Valley and surrounding regions. For example:

Appleton should have its comprehensive plan completed by a St. Louis consulting firm within a matter of a few months. It recently received a plan for rejuvenating the central business district and it has been adopted as a guide by the Common Council.

Black Creek and Hortonville were among the several communities recently receiving approval of their 701 planning grants.

Comprehensive planning programs, aided by the 701 program, are also underway in the eight-county Wolf River Basin region, including Outagamie, Shawano, Waupaca and Winnebago Counties.

Door County adopted a comprehensive plan last year and continuing planning work is underway. Sturgeon Bay was recently presented with some planning reports to update its program.

Clintonville recently received preliminary reports on its population and land use study and work is continuing on other phases of the planning survey.

Preliminary zoning regulations and a capital improvements program have been presented to the City of Waupaca. The Waupaca Planning Area, comprised of the city and nearby communities, also reviewed proposals for a land use and thoroughfare plan.

Cities, villages and towns throughout the country are realizing the time for planning for the future is now—not 25 years from now—and once plans are available they are moving ahead to implement them.

Buckley Livens Up New York Election

There has been increasing nationwide interest in the race for mayor of New York City, certainly one of the least attractive elective positions in the country. But whatever the outcome it is going to be difficult to determine exactly what it means.

When Congressman John Lindsay first entered the contest there was wide speculation that if he won or even made a reasonably good showing in a city where the registered Democrats far outnumber the Republicans, it would mean a new look for Republican politics. Lindsay is a liberal with some of the boyish good looking charm that helped the Kennedys. His chances were regarded as fairly good because of the unpopularity of the regime of Democrat Robert Wagner. Abraham Beame, the Democratic candidate, is colorless although he is trying to disassociate himself with the present city government while hanging on to regular Democrats.

But out of the blue the most talked about candidate turned out to be one who facetiously said he'd demand a recount if he won.

William Buckley, conservative editor of The National Review and controversial author of God and Man At Yale and other right wing works is the candidate of the Conservative Party which normally draws only a handful of votes in New York City.

At first the other two candidates ignored Buckley as he fits an obstreperous third party candidate. But the polls began to show a considerable amount of interest in Buckley. The newspaper strike played into his hands since he far outshines the other two on television with masterful ad-libbing and an outrageous sense of humor. In the last two weeks Lindsay and Beame are spending more time castigating Buckley and his campaign than discussing the issues. And Buckley himself has changed his tactics somewhat, writing position papers instead of depending entirely upon off-the-cuff humor.

It is highly unlikely that Buckley can win and most observers are trying to determine whether his campaign will hurt Beame or Lindsay the most. But whatever happens, what conclusions can be drawn? Would Lindsay's victory mean his success or merely disillusion with the Democrats? Would a good showing by Buckley mean a resurgence of conservative opinion or just a liking for a brash and highly vocal young man? If Beame won, did he survive because Buckley took away regular Republicans from Lindsay?

There is one thing certain. The only candidate who is hugely enjoying himself is William Buckley. The sense of humor of the other candidates has been severely strained by his taunts and success.

Looking Backward

Democrats Blamed for Civil War

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Oct. 19, 1865.

It is a fact which no intelligent man doubts that the South would never have taken to arms against the Union but for the encouragement they derived from Democratic leaders of the North.

In January, 1861, ex-President Pierre Andre Jefferson Davis asserted that if the appointment of James Pickens to the governorship of South Carolina had not been reached the secession would not have taken place. He said that the North was the cause of the secession and that the Southern states were the victims of the North.

A letter was sent to the Carolina by Gen. Sherman's soldiers from the 1st Connecticut Regiment, encouraging the State to secede, and subscribing for some of its war bonds.

The whole tone of the Democratic party in the North, the utterances of its leading men, from President Buchanan down to the editor of the most obscure country newspaper was such as to induce the South to believe that secession would be acquiesced in by the North.

Hence the experiment of rebellion and four years of civil war.

25 YEARS AGO
Saturday, Oct. 25, 1940.

The Miss Rosemary Quella and Arlene Kreidler Appleton, were first and second place winners in the women's race of the Outagamie County dairy men contest. Taking second place were Rita Henke, route 3, Appleton, and Mrs. Alma Burdette, route 2, Kaukauna. Mrs. Arlene Kreidler, Kaukauna, Mrs. Walter W. Rosen and Mrs. Henry T. Quella, won the prizes.

Among winners of the contest were Charles McHenry, Robert Kuehn Jr., and Robert M. Kuehn, all of Appleton. They were first and second place winners in the men's race of the contest.

New London City Atty. General W. Capener was to speak on voting and citizenship responsibility at the meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club of that city. The dinner meeting was being arranged by BPW members Mrs. J. F. Seering and Mrs. Kathryn Leike.

On the night of Sept. 28, Fidel Castro made another of those rambling, shambling speeches. After the first few thousand words he said, with seeming casualness, that anyone who didn't like life in Cuba was free to go to the "Yankee paradise" to the north.

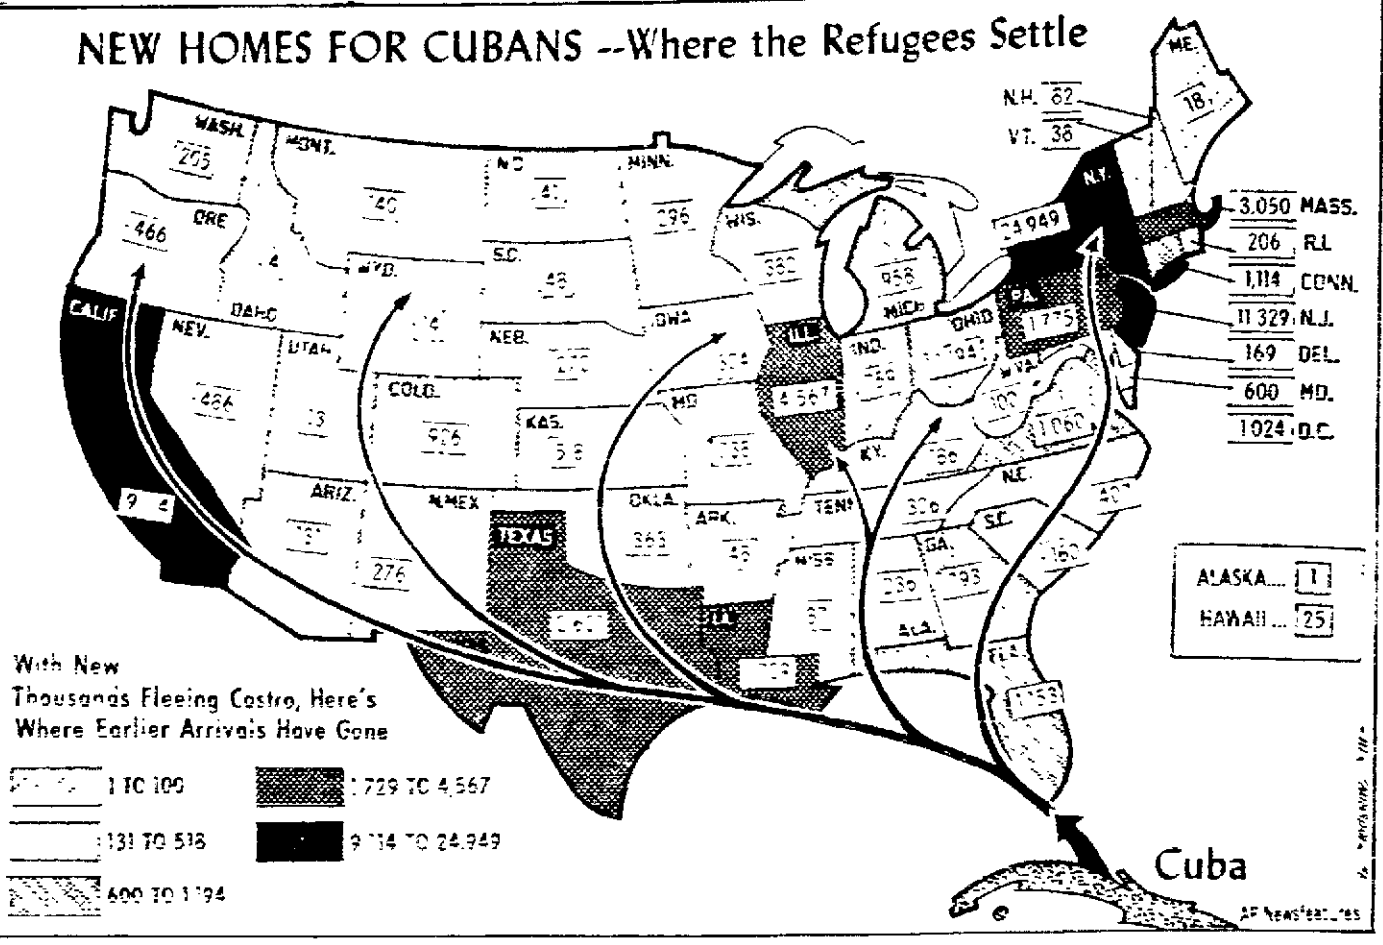

Weeks passed and still his words were not clear, but some things were becoming apparent. First off, no one of military age (15-26) would be allowed to escape, nor would children old enough to say they didn't want to leave. It seemed that Castro wished to rid himself of the aged, the infirm, the disabled.

How many would leave this time? The guesses most often heard started at 50,000 and went up from there. In Miami, some people shuddered. The city was still assimilating the Great Exodus that ended three years ago, when the missile crisis almost stopped the migration.

The first great flogra brought perhaps 250,000 Cubans to south Florida. About half of them are still there. Where have the others gone?

Added by the federal government, relatives, friends, church and charitable groups they have spread to all of the other 49 states, including one Cuban who made it all the way to Palmer, Alaska.

By far the largest number (24,919) as of June 30, according to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, went to New York. A few of them scattered around

Is U.S. Wasting Young Manpower Forcing Them to Fight in Viet Nam?

Editor, Post-Crescent:

While a group of sanctimonious, self-righteous individuals declaim loudly about tyranny and injustice in a foreign land, a part of our population is at liberty to deny justice to another part of our population. In Mr. Eisenhower's TV appearance this week he stated that the bombing of North Viet Nam might stop if the Viet Cong stopped murdering people. Would he sanction bombing Mississippi and Alabama and other states where people, innocent people, are murdered and the murderers unpunished?

And what liberty is guaranteed American youth when their lives are forfeit to the whims and bad judgment of any administration? I know of no greater treason against a nation than to wantonly waste its human and natural resources, thus weakening instead of strengthening its defenses.

Abraham Lincoln drew a distinction between administration and government. In the United States, Government is supposed to be vested in the people. Provision is made in the Constitution for removal of officials by elections; provision is made for impeachment. Administrations are not holier-than-thou institutions above criticism and correction. Changing the administration does not signify a breakdown of government but rather a correction and an aim for a better implementation of government. I grant that it does not always achieve this purpose.

Lawrence Thomson wrote, "For repression of thought—let this be clearly understood—appears practicable only to those who do not think, and we have more of that sort of people than any other civilized state on earth."

We mouth allegiance to liberty and justice for all, but our actions belie our words. Countless billions of dollars wrested from the American taxpayer have been used to support elite corrupt governments and perpetuate the degradation of peoples in many countries. It is because college professors and good students are well aware of this and also because they are familiar with the skeletons in the nation's closet that they cannot swallow the political garbage dished out to them without choking on it. I was reading Mr. Taylor's article a few days ago about child labor in Cuba. Did you know it took America a hundred and forty-six years from the Declaration of Independence to pass a national child labor law? Boys of twelve and fourteen were employed steadily in the mines. Little nine year old girls worked twelve and a half hours cleaning bobbins, from six-thirty in the evening to six in the morning for the magnificent wage of nine cents an hour. This was better business than hiring the parents because adults had to be paid more. The lack of safety precautions and the lack of health protecting practices in our early industrial development killed more people than the political purges you groan about, on a percentage basis.

If you are going to uphold an economy based on defense spending, on war, naturally you look for some place to use the product, some excuse to justify its use. President Dwight D. Eisenhower, in his Farewell Address to the Nation, said:

"In the councils of government, we must guard against the acquisition of unwarranted influence, whether sought or unsought, by the military-industrial complex. The potential for the disastrous rise of this combination endanger our liberties or democratic processes. We should take nothing for granted. Only an alert and knowledgeable citizenry can compel the proper meshing of the huge industrial and military machinery of defense with our peaceful methods and goals, so that security and liberty may prosper together."

This was good advice. It is a pity he did not follow it himself.

King Philip II of Spain

devasted Europe in a thirty years war but he did not accomplish his mission with his inquisition in The Netherlands. The Netherlands retained their own way of life, their own way of thought. The Viet Cong philosophy will not be changed by mass murder. It will be confirmed.

It takes moral courage to show opposition to the sanctified hypocacies we have become so adept in. It takes no moral courage to wave the flag. The flag wavers would be more convincing if they were sharing the vicissitudes of the men who are serving under it. How many hope to escape the draft anyway? It has always been "unequal and iniquitous." How many of the appreciative supporters of the foreign legion are enlisting in it?

Germany has at present a ratio of around three women to every man. A prolonged war in Asia can leave America destitute of healthy manpower and our natural resources were dwindling at an alarming rate before we became involved in this inquisition. Can this

Wisconsin Report
Branch Banking Bill Suffered From Division Among State's Bankers

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The repeated defeat in the legislature of bills to authorize limited branch banking in Wisconsin recalls one of the venerable stories of legislative politics.

The State Senate was struggling with a bill that had drawn the architects and the professional engineers of the state into ferocious combat. The general public was not involved. Scarcely anybody was paying attention except the combatants. An experienced state senator was asked how he intended to vote on the issue.

"I will count the architects, and I will count the engineers in my district," he replied.

According to all the evidence readily available, the State Senate did precisely that the other day when it knocked down once again the now fourth proposal to permit some bank branching.

Country bankers and individual many senators could easily apprehend that there were more of their constituents against the bill than favoring it. Because there was little or no sign of public interest or intervention in the fight the lawmakers played it safe and voted to keep the laws as they are.

UNITY NEEDED

Taking into account the fact that the state constitution makes it extraordinarily difficult to write bank legislation—a two-thirds vote is required in each house—it has become clear that there will be no significant changes in the regulatory laws until the banking community shows a reasonable unity on the proposition.

Taking into account that some of the banks which have branches established before the 1947 prohibition were in effect are not especially anxious to help their competitors and the fact that some of the owners of small town banks are plainly unenthusiastic about the prospect of branch competitors that may be organized by the larger urban branches, it will probably be a long time before such united support for branching will be achieved.

Banking legislation is a difficult and complex and sensitive subject. This reporter has no desire to appear presumptuous by discussing the merits of the bill. Yet anybody on the sidelines who watched the feverish fighting by the supporters and foes of branching in the Capitol during the last eight or nine months finds it difficult to understand the vacuum in which the fight was conducted.

Novitiates Boost Morale Of Soldiers in Viet Nam

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Several weeks ago there was an editorial in the People's Forum, written by a Menasha man, William Khushek, who stated his opinion on the people here in the States who are protesting the work our soldiers are doing in Viet Nam.

We aspirants have been corresponding with Bill since last May. During this time we have realized the hardships these boys have known in their fight for freedom to help the Vietnamese people.

Through our letters of appreciation and encouragement, we wish to boost Bill's morale and that of his buddies.

The following verses are dedicated to our Big Brother Bill in Viet Nam.

OUR CONCERN

None on a hillside.
None on his mind.
Fear in his heart.
Peace, he must find.
He marches alone
In the heat of the day.
Brave for his country
But so far away.
We wish he knew
Of the prayers that we say.
And the way we worry
About him each day.
To us he's an image
Of one brave and strong.
Protecting the villagers
From feared Viet Cong.
We think of him often.
By night and by day:
Our Bill off to war.
How long must he stay?

Mapping Satellite Ready for Launch

CAFE KENNEDY Fla. (AP) — A satellite Explorer satellite equipped with flashing lights and laser reflectors will be launched here next week to help scientists map the earth more accurately.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said today the 365-pound satellite will be launched between 1 and 2 p.m. EST Wednesday atop a three-stage Delta rocket.

Major objective of the satellite, called Geos 1, will be to locate and point on earth, as measured from the center of its mass, to within 30 feet of its true position.

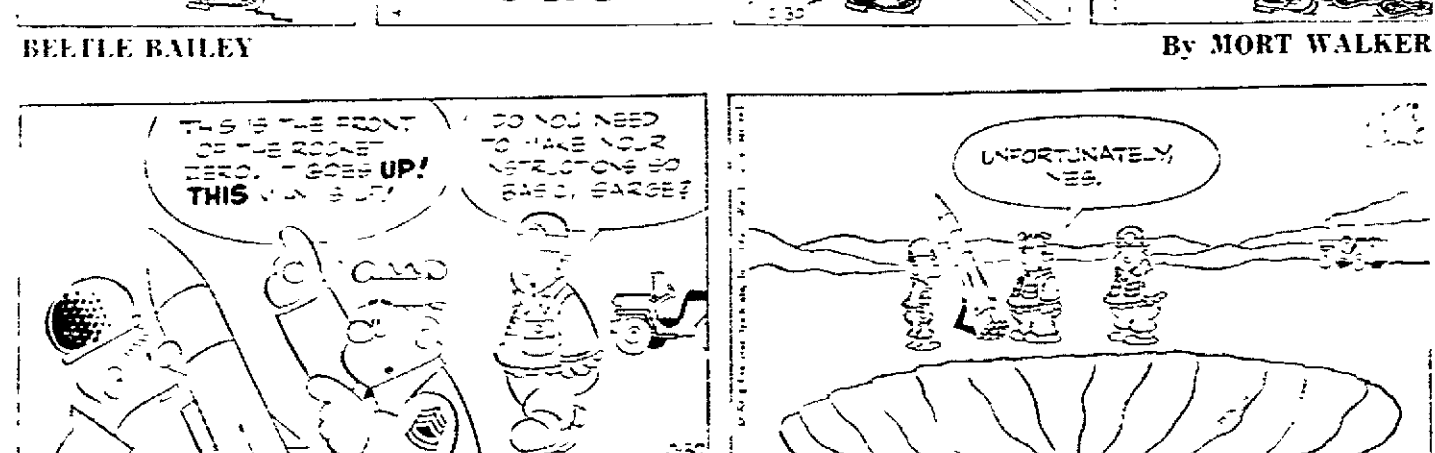

Tag players by reflection.

stands in one corner of the yard where he can face the sun and catch its rays in the mirror. The other players are at the opposite corner.

When one of the players in that corner shouts, "Ready!" the player with the mirror tries to focus it so the reflection of the sun's rays will fall on one of the players long enough for "It" to count to three. Of course, the players must run and dodge to escape the reflection. The rule, however, is that they must stay within the boundaries of the back yard.

When "It" counts, "One, two, three!" the runners must look and verify that he has focused the sun's rays on one of them. The player who has been tagged in this way becomes "It" and takes over the mirror.

After playing the game a while you will become expert at spotting your victims. You will discover, for example, that it is easy to tell that the reflection

Jingo Offers Critique On Area TV Programs

Gives Both Praise and Faults on 3
Channels Originating in Green Bay

BY JINGO

This third of six installments on "The State of Television" deals with the subject, "The Good and Bad of Local TV." For practical purposes, the matter must be confined to the three Green Bay channels we can receive.

First, the good:

All three channels follow their respective network's schedules rather faithfully; more so than do many affiliates in other areas. If the quality of the networks' show is poor, it can hardly be blamed on the local channels. They at least give viewers a free choice of what to watch at night.

Channels 2, 5 and 11 offer the networks' news programs each day and all attempt their own extensive coverage of area events.

Winnebago Would Pay For Relocating State 26

Aviation Committee Will Ask County Board Okay for Closing

OSHKOSH—Winnebago County would have to pay the expense of the right-of-way needed for the relocation of State 26 to allow expansion of the Winnebago County airport, L. W. Empey, Green Bay district highway engineer, advised the highway and aviation committees of the Winnebago County Board Friday afternoon.

The aviation committee will present a resolution to the county board next week asking that State 26 be closed and that a hearing be held by the State Highway Commission on this request.

Empey said State 26 could be re-routed into Oshkosh over U.S. 41 and State 44 or closed at its present intersection with U.S. 41.

He urged that the county obtain a "corridor" for a future southern entry into the City of Oshkosh. This would be the eventual routing of State 26.

Empey did not feel this new road would have to be built for 10 years, depending on the development of the area south of Oshkosh, but that the land should be secured now.

Securing this land is the responsibility of the county, he pointed out.

The district highway engineer said present State 26 was in need of reconstruction and a strengthening of the overpass over the Soo Line Railroad if it were to be continued in use. He estimated the cost of this work at $400,000.

A new highway built at this time would cost about $713,000, or $300,000 more, he indicated. This cost would include the land purchase.

Empey suggested the future routing of State 26 should be south of Ripple Road and that property be secured along property lines. The new road would head northeast on the present State 26 and then would be relocated directly east to County Trunk I which is the Oregon foot urban construction. Since the city has not annexed on both sides of Oregon Street to Waukau Avenue, the county still has jurisdiction over this part and up to 24th Avenue.

Supv. Clarence Loehning, Neenah, objected to a joint resolution being submitted by the aviation and highway committees asking for the State 26 relocation. He said the request should be that of the aviation committee. Board Chairman Joseph Drexler, Oshkosh, indicated he was trying to save a step and indicated that the resolution when presented by the aviation committee then would have to be referred to the highway committee for endorsement of an additional resolution.

Supv. Alvin Stafield, Neenah, aviation committee chairman, thought the joint resolution was "rushing things" and that it should be the resolution of either one committee or the other.

Supv. Lyle Raddatz, Town of Nekimi, added that the aviation committee should present the first resolution asking the State Highway Commission to conduct a hearing on closing State 26.

Planning Director Says Twin Cities Should Continue Their Growth

Johnson Contends Menasha Plan For Annexation 'Went Too Far'

OSHKOSH—The state director of planning, who in early September found against the City of Menasha in its recent annexation, said Friday he feels that both Neenah and Menasha have grown too slowly and hopes they both will make more annexations.

The director, Walter Johnson, gave some of the background for his Sept. 9 advisory opinion during an informal interview at the regional water conference here.

He cast his opinion against the annexation, he said, because "it went too far." He maintained the annexation extends into areas which are more related to Appleton.

Caught In Middle

"We knew we'd be caught in the middle on this case; it's just one of those things," he said, referring to the high level of controversy over the annexation.

A major consideration in the ruling of the department of planning, he said, was how utility services would be affected. He maintained that Appleton can service northern parts of the annexation package better than Menasha.

Specifying on this general point, which also was made in his September ruling, he said Appleton already extends water and sewer service to the Fox Valley University of Wisconsin Center, an area included in the annexation.

But, beyond the specific issue of the recent annexation by Menasha, he said Neenah and Menasha "haven't grown fast enough."

Johnson also commented on how state courts are interpreting state annexation statutes. He said they "have gotten off on the wrong foot" in applying a "test of reason."

He said a more viable court criteria would be whether an annexation was an "abuse of discretion." The latter standard would be less subject to ambiguous interpretation, he said.

St. Mary's Seniors Begin 3-Day Retreat at Green Bay

MENASHA—A three-day retreat for seniors at St. Mary's High School began Friday when some of the boys left for St. Norbert Abbey, De Pere, and a number of senior girls left for the Sisters of Charity Green Bay.

The Rev. Samuel Jodin, O. Praem, is the director of the boys' retreat, and the Rev. Joseph Jafolla is the retreatmaster.

The Rev. Gery Meehan, O. Praem, is the retreatmaster for the senior girls going to Sisters of Charity.

The second group of senior boys will leave Monday for the Monte Alverno Retreat House, Appleton. The Rev. Alcun chutkowski, OFM, Cap. is the retreatmaster.

2 More Groups

Two more groups of senior girls will leave on Tuesday. One group will have its retreat at Cenacoe, Milwaukee and the Rev. David Wanner is director. The remaining group will hold its retreat at Our Lady of the Lake, Tomahawk, where the Rev. Norbert West is director. The Rev. Stanley Kusman is retreatmaster.

The 71 senior girls and 63 senior boys will have three day retreats.

A retreat for underclassmen at St. Mary's will be held Tuesday through Thursday for 150

Executives of Paper Firms Meeting at K-C

Management Course Is Fourth Offered At Marketing Center

NEENAH — Ten executives of paper distributing companies in the Midwest, east and south will begin a six-day Kimberly-Clark merchant management development seminar Sunday evening at the company's marketing center.

The seminar is the fourth offered in the last year by Kimberly-Clark as a service to printing paper distributor customers and "in recognition of mutual dependence upon good service, quality and profitability," a Kimberly-Clark spokesman said.

Since Halloween Falls on Sunday, witches, hobgoblins and the ilk will be out tonight. Tonight also marks the end of daylight saving time with a reminder that all clocks must be pushed back an hour—officially at 2 a.m. but you don't really have to wait up that long—just don't forget to do it when you retire. The witch in the sky here made a practice run Friday, preparatory to pushing the hands of the clock on College Avenue back at the exact witching hour of 2 a.m. Sunday. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Sen. Nelson Addresses Water Conference

Asks Federal Funds to Curb Pollution

OSHKOSH—In a speech States by 1960 it will be 600 to 700 billion gallons and 1,200 billion by the year 2000. This means our surface water will be reused several times a day in many areas of the country and up to 30, 40, or 50 times a day in heavily populated areas. "What we must realize," he said, "is that the pace of pollution and population are accelerating rapidly." To stop the destruction of these resources, he said, many steps must be taken and much money must be committed. He called his bill passed this year to provide $150 million for establishing water control standards only a modest beginning. As a starter, he said, we must spend $50 to $100 billion—up to several times more than the national yearly defense budget—to encourage industries and municipalities to clean up by incentives and tax writeoffs. Spending money, he said, is an economic measure since it will bring back returns several hundred-fold.

Police Hold Two Runaways

Two youths were taken into custody near an abandoned automobile in Brown County Friday night following a high-speed chase from Kaukauna by Kaukauna police. He said state and local governments have lost the battle to preserve our resources. "The argument that state and local levels can do it better really means they won't do it at all," he said. All we have to do is look around us, he added.

Lists Atrocities

Among the conservation atrocities he ticked off were: "The southern tip of Lake Michigan is gone," caused by pollution from steel filings, acids, and raw sewage. "It is virtually beyond restoration," he added. The beaches in Green Bay have been closed for 25 years because of pollution. Milwaukee has combined storm and sanitary sewers, which means that raw sewage overflows into the lake every time it rains heavily. This also is the situation in St. Louis and many other American cities, he said. There is a 2,600 square mile area in the middle of Lake Erie that is no more than a "dead sea," he said. In Duluth, he said, the tide of pollution is extending out from the city, driving all but trash fish before it.

Water Usage

Beyond the rim of present pollution, the need for a massive program also arises from the population pressure he said. As an example he said we are now using 350 billion gallons of water a day.

House Numbers Turn Up in 'Craziest Places'

House numbers in Appleton's residential areas turn up in the craziest places, a group of aldermen learned Thursday night. As a result, the council's public safety committee asked the police department to investigate the situation and make recommendations. The need for better house numbering, and improved street sign system, was called to the committee's attention in a three-page petition sent to city hall recently by a group of Appleton residents. Dean Starks, 1500½ Prospect Ave., who said he was in the delivery business, told the committee of the problems encountered due to the lack of uniform house numbering in the city. Ald. Pence Chief Earl O. Wirth said, Inspector Harry numbers but would check into the matter. He said that police improve street signs.

Man Charged With Battery Faces Court

Police Allege Leonard Eichhorst Stabbed Woman

Leonard E. Eichhorst, 30, 725 Koshke Road, charged with aggravated battery in connection with the alleged stabbing of a young Appleton woman, was bound over for the reading of information after a preliminary hearing late Friday afternoon in Outagamie County Court Branch 2. County Judge Gustave J. Keller who found, after the testimony, that there was probably cause that a crime had been committed, set Monday morning as the date for reading of the information. Heard Friday in Judge Keller's court were Phyllis Pranke, 23, 730½ W. College Ave., who alleges that Eichhorst stabbed her with a paring knife at his home Sunday morning, Oct. 3, and Dr. Joseph N. Bonner, who treated her at St. Elizabeth Hospital. Eichhorst, who appeared with his court-appointed attorney Seymour Gmeiner, was arrested by Outagamie County authorities following investigation of an incident at his home. Dr. Bonner told the court, Miss Pranke received a wound in the lower right part of the back and that the liver was penetrated. She was hospitalized for two weeks and two days. Bond for Eichhorst was continued at $2,000.

Important Issues Divergent Fox Cities Opinions Confuse Wouldbe Trick or Treaters

Tricks and treats have made the Fox Cities a community divided. Neenah and Menasha officials this week are standing firm for trick and treat night tonight. But Appleton officials have been telling inquirers that the night set aside for door-to-door treat collections is Halloween night — Sunday night. Mayor Clarence Mitchell said today that the civic celebrations for the young try were held Friday and that trick and treat night is Sunday night. Not so with Twin city officials who are officially giving sanction to the annual parade to the doors for tonight.

Sunday Celebration

Trick and treat night in Combined Locks, Kimberly, Little Chute and Kaukauna will apparently be officially celebrated Sunday, officials there indicated. There have been few inquiries in those communities about a change of dates. Appleton police said they have been swamped with telephone calls who are asking when the trick and treat ceremony is held. "We've had maybe 5,000 calls," a weary desk sergeant said at the Appleton Police Department. He admitted the nature was a slight exaggeration but he said, "it seemed like it." Capt. Donald Paulie of the Appleton Police Department said the force has been doubled for Sunday night and a normal force is scheduled to work tonight. No Protection

"If the treaters are out there, they'll be there without all our protection," Capt. Paulie said. In some communities, trick and treat night is celebrated on the night previous to Halloween. Halloween, the last day in weekend, there has been some October, is reserved for civic confusion ceremonies, house parties and other affairs. It is suggested that homeowners who want to welcome the week night there is apparently porch lights on and that the no tricks. However, because callers go to homes where the trick and treaters are on the night show.

Recreation Department Halloween parties were held in Appleton Friday night with youngsters appearing in a wide variety of costumes. Second place winner at Jefferson School with her tramp costume was Shawn Ryan, held in the arms of her father, Don. Official "Trick or Treat" night in Appleton is scheduled Sunday.
